Using social media?
THE POWER IS YOURS. USE IT WISELY.

If you encounter false, fake, misleading, or harmful posts... Make the best choice for you, your family, your friends, and your community.

SHARE

I'm going to pass this along to other people. I can do that without commenting, or I can add an explanation to help people understand why I'm sharing.

CHALLENGE

I can reply to a post that contains misinformation by providing accurate information.

I can do this privately (perhaps with a suggestion to delete or edit the post), or I can do it publicly, so everyone who sees the original post will see my reply. If I choose the latter, I can reply in a way that does not call anyone names or embarrass or shame the original poster. I can link to a credible source with a message that begins:

- Maybe you didn't know...
- Have you thought about...
- I see it differently because...
- That's true but it isn't the whole story...

REPORT

I can report a harmful or inappropriate post to a parent or other adult I trust so they can help me figure out what to do. I can also report it to the platform where I saw it and tell them why the post is a problem.

SKIP

I can ignore the post and just scroll past it without responding.

People can get hurt by misleading or fake information.
I CARE, SO I THINK BEFORE I SHARE.
